Special Mag's remarks on the offer with regard to recognition of new Associations who have applied for permission to send representatives to the Rep. Assy.:—

"I am doubtful about the Inamdars Association. Please look into the file in the matter & see whether it is the Inamdars Association or Inamdars that will return a member. If the latter rules will have to be framed fixing qualifications &c and steps will have to be taken to prepare the electoral roll.

as Mat for the present. This representation may be through the Inamdars associations but that the future method of representation should be examined and details settled."

After giving details of the method adopted in Nairn for securing representation of land holding classes, the note concludes as follows:—

"If the Supreme Inamdars are granted the right of representation, similar rules will be prepared and put up for approval."

The following remark is made by the Chief Secy:—

Keep T in the linked file

4) Although Inamdars in Supreme are not quite like the zemindars, Mirasidars & Zamindars in the Deccan, it seems desirable to recognise their separate interests, which on many points are distinct from those of ryots (whether Sirkari ryots or tenants of Inam villages). It is not very difficult to form a constituency for them. Holders of Inam Villages Corporations or villages) with a view to say not less than Rs. 300 may be given the right to vote. Where the village is divided into wards, only one person nominated by the watchmen holding not less than 2/3 of the total number of wards may give the vote. The voting can be done by post."

The first member has written as follows
"I am in general agreement with the views expressed in the Chief Secy's note
. . . . ."

The Second member remarked as follows:-
"The Inamdars Association may be given a representation - also the Lawyers association."

The question of the strength & Composition of the
was considered in Council and in para 3 of their Resolution dated 9.6.23 they recognised Inamdars
as a Constituency for the present.

Even in the draft provisional order there is nothing more than two members of the Inamdars in the State as a Constituency to represent one of the Special Interests.

The question concerning minorities is separately being discussed.

The file is before the Council (27.9.23) ~~Sub-Committee orders~~. If the Swaraj Constitutional Committee is to be treated as an association then the orders on the file before the Council may perhaps be awaited. Otherwise draft rules will be put up on the lines suggested by the Chief Secy in his first note. Submitted for orders.

Government have recognised the interests of Inamdars as one of the special interests entitled to representation on the Representative Assembly.

At present, the Inamdar's representative is returned by the Mysore Inamdar's Association. When the point was under consideration in the Council, it was remarked that this Association is doing no real work and that its right of representation may therefore be withdrawn and a fresh constituencies formed for Inamdars.

Orders are required here whether in accordance with the Committee's recommendations the existing associations enjoying the right of representation may continue to exercise the right till the formation of more suitable Electorates, the Inamdar's association may be permitted to return a member to the new Representative Assembly or whether proposals may be submitted for the formation of a new Inamdars constituency.
